II DEFINITION OF SCIENTIFIC AND METHOD GROUNDS OF THE RESEARCH

II.1. Selection of literature corresponding to the research peculiarities: the research was based on special literature sourced in Appendix 1.

II.2. Philological analysis was based on the following methods: semantics and syntax analysis (the core of the method is defining semantic meaning of a statement formulated in a peculiar syntax construction), functional and pragmatic analysis (analysis of functions of constructions in a statement on a whole), context analysis. Research on religion was based on typological method (the core of which is in splitting the studied objects into groups by certain criteria).

II.3. Materials used during the expert research (per the order data):

“NSC of RK department of Almaty registered an application in regards with one of the employees of the religious association named “New Life” Bible center on October 25, 2009. According to the applicant, the named RA distribute DVD disks containing films by a foreign religious figure, David Hathaway. The films contain, in particular the documentary “The Rape of Europe”, per the applicant, examples of religious intolerance and approval of war with the Muslim world.

To gather evidence on illegal actions of the New Life RA there took place a control purchase of video materials distributed among the church congregation. In particular, we acquired DVD disks of the following films: “Getting closer to Armageddon”, “The rape of Europe”, “China cries”, “World pray move”, “Africa calls the world to pray”, “Witnesses at your doors”, “Life in Christ without legs and arms”, “I promise to cherish”, “The one changing time”, “The sign of the Beast”, “Peter Spencer”, David Hathaway’s “Serving God in reconciliation and healing” #1, David Hathaway’s “Serving God in reconciliation” #2, David Hathaway’s “Reconciliation with God, Praying for healing, Evidence of healing” #4, David Hathaway’s “Three levels of faith”, Peter Spencer’s “Apologetics”.

While watching the films and speeches by the preachers we have found possible evidence of stirring up inter-religious intolerance, stirring up war, as well as promoting advantage of evangelistic Christianity over other religions.

Considering that in order to decide on presence of attributes of stirring up inter-religious intolerance and people’s hatred there is a need to perform comprehensive psychological and philological and religious expertise based on articles 240, 242, 30, 64, 83 and 20 of the Criminal Code of the RoK...”

2. Direct research object is the meaning of the content of the texts presented in the research materials.

III PHILOLOGICAL RESEARCH

- Are there any attributes (appeals) of stirring up of social, national, family, racial, religious hatred or discord?

Stirring up of social, ethnic, family, racial, religious hatred or discord assumes an attempt to generate conflict between citizens that belong to different social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial groups. Threats, statements of exclusiveness and advantage of representatives of one social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial group and deficiency of another, accusations may accompany the stirring.

Main verbal attributes of social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial intolerance are:

- Formation of a negative image of some social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial group distinctly negative attitude towards the group, that provokes hatred: extending various negative traits of some individuals to the whole social, ethnic, religious, family group, assault of national honor, dignity, religious feelings of citizens;
- Statements of natural advantage of one social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial group and deficiency of another; accusations in presence of conspiracy of one social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial group against another; stating primary enmity of one social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial group;
- Attributing to one social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial group hostile actions and endangering measures against another; explaining that distress and ill-being in the past, present and future exist because of certain actions by specific ethnic, family, social and religious groups;
- Demand to expel representatives of certain social, national, ethnic, religious, family, racial groups from some activities; demand to restrict rights and freedom or to privilege the ones of certain groups based on their belonging to specific ethnic, social, family, racial, religious group;
- Treats and encouragement to application of force against representatives of specific ethnic, social, family, racial, religious group; incitement towards actions against representatives of specific ethnic, social, family, racial, religious group;

Incitement – a call for immediate action, i.e. such a form of influence on people's minds, will and behavior that when made, it creates an immediate desire for a specific kind of action. Main attributes of incitement are: in terms of oral delivery – solemn and pathos tone of statements, semantic and grammar – use of lexical units that contain meaning of incitement, i.e. calls urging for action (imperatives), special particles, word combinations that contain urging aspect to them.

Semantic and syntax and context analysis of the presented object demonstrated that the texts of objects ## 3-8, 11-16, 19-26 do not contain any attributes (appeals) of stirring up ethnic, social, family, racial, religious hatred, discord because they do not express any negative attitude towards any ethnic, social, family, racial, religious group or its representatives, and such attitude does not provoke in this context any hatred or discord; same as the objects do not hold any inciting constructions designated to provoke negative violent actions against any ethnic, social, family, racial, religious group or its representatives of any ethnic or religious belonging, comparing citizens by their belonging to any ethnic, social, family, racial, religious group based on “good-bad” principle.

Texts of objects ## 1,2,9,10,17,18 (The Rape of Europe) contains statements that provoke religious intolerance.

For instance:

“We have all grounds to believe that Allah is the god of moon that was chosen by Mahomet for worshipping and that is now worshipped by many people in the world. Nowadays, crescent is the world symbol of Islam in all musks and flags. What is the connections between Europe and Islam? History says that Islam, ever since its creation, has fought against it. First, there took place a Muslim invasion through Turkey, the Balkans, Spain, France, the invasion triggered war all across Europe. Then there happened a response by European crusaders...

Is not Europe the woman that sits on the bull that rapes her? In June [...] year national papers published information about Muslim invasion into Europe...

Do you understand how serious is the threat of Islam? The Muslim worship Allah, which, as I have said, is the Baal, the God of Moon. And nonetheless, the Western countries invite them for participation in joint worships – there they say that there exist three great confessions: the Jews that believe in the Old Testament, Christians that believe in the Bible and the Muslims and their Koran. But Allah is not our God. Look at their symbols: a bull with horns in the shape of a crescent in musks and on flags of the Muslims. Probably, they worship the Baal – the bull, the Devil himself. Compare the symbols of the 13th and the 17th [verses] of the Book of Revelations and you will see for yourselves that the Beast that raped the Europe is described by horns.

Today we can see the raise of Islam zeal that puts world stability in danger. The President Bush acknowledged this fact by declaring war to terrorism. The problem of Israel arose due to reasons other from the terrorist threats, but rather due to the Muslim intention to completely mow down Israel. But first, they will have to deal with the USA. Because the US support Israel. They want not only to invade Israel and to if you wish occupy the territories, the Muslims will not gain piece till they drive out or destroy all the Jews of the “Land of Promise”. The next target after the Jews is the Church. Violent Muslims hate the Crist and other Christian symbols. Worldwide, they build musks in places where there are such symbols and they do it to demonstrate advantage of Islam over Christian faith. This is a part of the great battle of the present. We need to take all of these events that are taking place in Europe seriously. And we must pray.

The Saudi Arabia encourages erection of musks everywhere, even in the places where there are very few Muslims. They can put you to jail simply for holding a copy of Bible. It is simply impossible to build churches there. When the city authorities of Rome allowed construction of a musk next to Vatican, the Saudi media declared it as Vatican surrender to Islam. The West started to exercise religious tolerance and they started inviting leading imams to Christian cathedrals and churches. But the Muslim cities Mecca and Medina, and now “the Temple Mount” in Jerusalem are inaccessible to those not embrace Islam.”

The content of these statements is designed to create a negative image of the Islam religion, namely by the following: 1) stating Islam hostility towards Christianity, as well as presence of threats by Islam to Christianity and the rest of the European world; 2) negative description of Islam as of a religion worshipping Devil, and Muslims as violent and hating Christianity; 3) attributing negative hostile intentions of the Muslims against the Jews and the Christians; 4) using context that characterizes Islam as a religion of zeal and terrorism.

These data, in the context that they are used in, are designed to provoke ethnic and religious hatred and discord.

Thus, the texts of the presented research objects ## 3-8, 11-16, 19-26 do not contain any attributes of stirring up ethnic, social, family, racial, religious hatred and discord. The texts of objects ## 1, 2, 9, 10, 17, 18 demonstrate attributes of stirring up ethnic and religious hatred: creation of a negative image of Islam, distinctly negative attitude towards it, stating Islam hostility towards the Jews and the Christianity.

- Are there any attributes of assault of national honor and dignity or any religious feelings of the citizens in the presented research objects?

Assault of national honor and dignity, religious feelings of citizens, expressing negative attitude towards certain ethnicities, religions and their representatives in improper form.

This given, verbally (written and oral) in terms of forensic psychological and philological expertise the actions are assessed based on use of improper (swear) lexica that violates public morals.

When deciding on whether a word, expression, statement is an assault, it is important to consider micro- and macro-context of the use of the linguistic unit and peculiarities of its use. It is necessary to differentiate between expressions in regards with assessing a person and the ones assessing specific deeds and behaviors of the person. The expression becomes assaulting when the improper lexica characterizes not the specific deeds or words of the person, but rather the person as a whole, i.e. it gives a summarized opinion about the person or the group of people. When using the word figuratively we need to consider internal content of the figurative use. When deciding the issue of assault we also need to consider such component as targeted orientation.

Analysis of the texts of presented research objects testifies absence of assault statements in regards with national honor and dignity, religious feelings of citizens since there is no expression of negative attitude towards certain ethnicities, religions and their representatives formulated with use of swear (improper), vulgar or foul language.

The words of the texts of objects ## 1, 2, 9, 10, 17, 18 containing negative data on Islam and the Muslims, are represented as statements and evaluations free of improper language and are structured with use of literature language.

Thus, the texts of the presented research objects ## 1-26 does not contain data on assault of national honor and dignity, religious feelings of citizens.

- Are there any statements regarding exclusiveness and advantage of certain citizens and deficiency of others based on their belonging to religious, class, ethnic, family or racial group in the resented research objects?

Statements regarding exclusiveness and advantage of certain citizens and deficiency of others based on their belonging to religious, class, ethnic, family or racial group assume presence of specific lexical and grammatical constructions, the central semantic aspect of which is use of phrases about superiority or deficiency of people based on their social, ethnic, religious, racial, family inferiority, lameness or superiority based on the same aspects. Grammatically, this may be expressed using comparative and superlative adjectives to demonstrate “better-worse” principle, using comparative, benchmarking constructions, etc.

The texts of the research objects do not contain statements on exclusiveness and advantage of certain citizens and deficiency of others based on their belonging to religious, class, ethnic, family or racial group, since there are no comparative, benchmarking constructions that assume meaning of illustrating superiority or deficiency of people based on their social, ethnic, religious, racial, family inferiority, lameness or superiority based on the same aspects.

Thus, the texts of the research objects ## 1-26 do not contain any statements regarding exclusiveness and advantage of certain citizens and deficiency of others based on their belonging to religious, class, ethnic, family or racial group.

IV RELIGIOUS RESEARCH

- Which religious branch do the ideas from the research materials belong to? Which ideas are preached regarding other ethnos, race, religion?

To define the ideas of this or that religious branch based on the research material, we need to introduce the following glossary used in religious studies:

Protestantism – one of the three main branches of Christianity, represents unity of numerous independent churches connected via Reformation – a broad anti-Catholic movement started in Europe in XVI century. Reformatories based themselves on personal relation between man and God. Protestantism declares Bible as the only source of doctrine, and betrayal is denied or used to the extent appropriated by the corresponding Scripture. According to pilgrims of Protestantism, the First Sin had not only damaged the nature of men, as Orthodox and Catholic churches preach, but it had rather perverted it completely. Having sinned, the man lost the very ability to do [good]. That is why a man cannot earn salvation by his deeds. Salvation may come only through divine intervention, “the gift of grace”. The most important dogma of the most of protestant confessions is a belief about justification of the redeeming sacrifice of Jesus by one religion. Embodiment of the belief in Jesus Evangeline – the fruit of [...] to God in Protestantism – are the good deeds.

Pentecostals – a protestant movement, received its name and started in [the US] in the end of the XIX century. This confession is based on the New Testament story “[Ten] Disciples” (2:1-18) about the Descent of the Holy Spirit on the Apostles on the fiftieth day [of the] Easter. Adepts of the movement state that every true Christian may get visual gifts from the Holy Spirit: foreseeing, healing the sick, speaking other languages (Glossolalia), and so on, the Pentecostals are close to baptism in terms of their dogma, however they enunciate mystique communication with God and “baptism by the Holy Spirit”. They believe that a sanctified person become an organ of the Holy Spirit that has descended upon him/her. Pentecostals have several branches.

Along with sanctifying by the Holy Spirit, the Pentecostals pay great attention to “spiritual gifts”. The one that the Holy Spirit descends on, in the view of the Pentecostals, s/he becomes a holder of spiritual gifts. To start speaking an unknown language during a worship is to testify one’s ekklesia, demonstrate his/her closeness with the Holy Spirit.

Widely spread now is Neopentecostal movement in the form of charismatic movements. It belongs to Neoprotestantism and it started in the second half of the [XX] century. The word “charisma” from Greek is translated as “person”, “grace”, “gift”. In this case, we talk about Holy Spirit gifts quoted in the First Epistle from Paul to the Corinthians (12:3-10).

The spine of the Charismatics is the belief in special divine force, descended to a man from up above to help to overcome sinfulness that he is prone to and to achieve salvation in the Kingdom. They believe that any person may receive grace directly, but in order to do that, it is necessary to comply with the Church rules. Special attention is paid to the closeness of the Second Coming, the End of the World and of the thousand-year-old Christ Kingdom, as well as to following all of the God’s Commandments. Some Pentecostals acknowledge the whole God and associate Him with Jesus Christ.

Adepts of this movement believe that “speaking other languages”, the miraculous gifts of the Holy Spirit, may be found among true Christians today as well.

In Kazakhstan this movement is represented by the following associations: “Agape”, “New Heaven”, “New Life”, “Ildia”, “Gospel”, “Living Vine”, “Charismatic Church of Jesus Christ” and others.

The texts of the research objects ## 1-26 contain ideas specific to protestant and neopentecostal movements of Christianity. The ideas inform about:

- Total Evangelization, acquiring grace from God and following dogma of Evangelistic Church, i.e. "It is only then that you receive the fire... if you are ready to evangelize, bring people to Church, talk to them about Christ, you commit to life in the power and chrismation of the Holy Spirit." "If you let God fill you with the Holy Spirit, if you let God baptize you in it, then there is nothing impossible, any human is full of the Holy Spirit, he must become evangelist, every one of you must bring people to Jesus, you bring them here and let the preacher do it, be an evangelist, a Gift of God to every believer." (object #16);
- Mass glossolalia (speaking other languages), flow of the Holy Spirit gifts, for example: "... fill me with your fire now,... give me the gift of glossolalia and I will dare the devil... I want that we start praying now in other languages, let the Holy Spirit descend on you" (object #16); *"there was another flow of the Holy Spirit in 1908, when simultaneously in an Anglican Church... the US... Cassel... People... started speaking some unknown different languages.
